BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hagan announce the birth of a baby daughter, Nell Elizabeth at the Bulloch County Hospital on March 9. Mrs. Hagan was the former Miss Evelyn Mills of Sparta, Georgia.

PAULINE CHESTER—

Continued From Front Page tower as her "home," for she gave the county the one-quarter acre of land on which the tower stands.

Every day this little woman who feels that she is doing a great work in protecting the county's forests, walks a half mile to the tower and climbs 132 steps to a height of 100 feet to take up her fire spotting—which might explain her trim figure.

When she spots a fire, she locates it on an instrument which is duplicated on the dispatcher's map of the county. She calls in the location to the ranger's office at the airport and fire fighters, rangers, and equipment are on the fire in an average of 20 minutes.

Sometimes before that. Mrs. Chester can tell how long a fire has been burning, the kind of fire it is, how fast it is burning, and which direction it will move after she spots it. She knows her area of the county so thoroughly that she knows whose land the fire is on.

She pays no attention to smoke from trains. She knows the locations of all fixed and controlled fires such as saw mills and trash piles.

At 56 years of age it is believed that Mrs. Chester is the oldest tower-watcher in the state. Certainly the oldest lady tower-watcher.

Announcing the

We Favor a Sales Tax for Georgia

WE'RE FOR THE Minimum Foundation Program. We're for the State Tax. We must support it or Georgia's educational progress turns backward.

We're for rural roads, public health, public education, and other services which a state must provide to continue in its growth and development.

To provide these services we favor a sales tax. That's the answer we see to the problems of financing all these things we know we must provide to the citizens of our state.

We are aware of the stock rebuttal to that one—"Oh, so you tax those least able to pay."

There is a state-wide campaign being waged to the tune of that song, and we realize it's an unpopular tax to advocate and support.

A visit to the Bulloch County Health department on clinic days; a visit to the Bulloch County Public Welfare office changes the word to: "The services go free to those least able to pay."

You don't hear too much about a real reason for opposition to the Sales Tax—that one about: "It'll take an extra clerk to keep the records of the taxes collected under a sales tax."

They sing the old song—"It taxes the least able to pay."

Those singing that song—we question the sincerity of their concern for "those least able to pay."

Let's throw a little light on that booby sales tax.

The general sales tax was first adopted by West Virginia in 1921. The movement did not gain any momentum, however, until the middle of the 1930's when the foundation of the formerly dependable revenues had been undermined or destroyed by the depression. Many of the states found that the increasing demands upon them at that period could be met by a general sales tax.

He Asks For It

"I WOULD LIKE to make a statement about this voters re-registration bill that has been passed by the Legislature.

"I would like to see anyone in the state of Georgia make me pay any kind of state taxes, if they refuse to let me vote in any kind of their elections.

"If I am turned down from voting, the state of Georgia will be turned down from getting any tax from me. I don't think the government will let the state do a thing to me for not paying my taxes, if I am denied a vote."

These are the sentiments of one James J. Reeves of Ft. McPherson near Atlanta. He expressed them in a letter to the editor of the Atlanta Journal.

Here's a man who is begging his registrars to refuse him the right to vote.

And so the state is "turned down from getting any tax from me."

And so he pays no taxes!

But he accepts the protection the state patrol affords him.

He accepts the protection his state health department affords him and his family.

He accepts the protection the state courts affords him and his.

He accepts the privilege of riding on paved highway afforded him by the state.

He accepts the freedom and rights afforded him by the sacrifices made by his neighbors and friends when they pay their taxes.

He's screaming about what he's going to do and what he's not going to do.

We question his sincerity . . . and the sincerity of all his kind.

If he's the citizen he claims to be, he pay his taxes, and be proud of the privileges.

Or, are we wrong?

The $64 Question

THE APRIL 5 referendum is making every citizen of Georgia tax conscious.

And when you go to the polls that day and mark your ballot, if you vote "I favor . . ." the question uppermost in your mind will be "Where is the money coming from?"

You concede the need of all the things mentioned in the contingent appropriations.

But where is the money coming from?

tax and added it to their revenue systems.

In 1929 Georgia imposed a complex gross receipts tax as a temporary measure to relieve a deficiency in the State Treasury at that time. A tax of two mills was imposed on retailers, one mill on wholesalers, and one-half mill on manufacturers.

The tax was only applicable to gross receipts in excess of $20,000. It proved to be more of a nuisance than a revenue measure due to its exemptions and was allowed to die a natural death under the terms of the Act.

Twenty-seven states have a general sales tax. Seven states have rejected proposed sales tax.

However, the general sales tax is still being accepted as an important source for state revenue.

All the states have found sales taxes to be most productive. Some of Georgia's neighbors are using it, with Tennessee realizing $41,046,000 a year; Mississippi, $22,646,000; and North Carolina, $39,333,000.

Experience in the states with sales taxes indicate that where there was objection with the acceptance of the tax it was generally by the business interests. However with the passage of time the objections of both business men and consumers became less noticeable.

In another editorial on this page we have discussed the question, "Where is the money coming from?"

We believe that real property or tangible personal property can't stand any more of the burden. Tightening up on other sources might produce a little more revenue . . . but for the things Georgia needs and the people have said they want, it's going to take big money.

Twenty-seven states have found the answer in a general sales tax.

Why can't Georgia find the answer there too? We believe that's it.

He estimates about $500,000 might be received from this source.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES—Mr. Brooks thinks there is "no gold there." A discussion of a possible state monopoly of alcoholic beverages shows that Georgia warehouse charge of $3 per gallon is probably producing as much revenue as state-owned liquor stores would produce.

INCOME TAX—The economist thinks two improvements could be made here to increase the state income by to eight millions. The first, to broaden the tax base by raising the beginning rate; the other, to discontinue allowing the deduction of the federal income tax in calculating the tax liability in Georgia.

INHERITANCE TAX—Georgia is one of the eleven states that imposes no tax on the distribution of estates of deceased persons among the heirs.

Mr. Brooks thinks a half million dollars might be picked up by following the conventional practice of a great majority of the states.

MOTOR LICENSES—The easiest additional money to be found would be through a recasting of the motor license law. The rates are probably well constructed in the case of commercial vehicles, buses and trucks, but the passenger car situation is little short of ludicrous . . . it would apparently be safe to say that, had Georgia's motor license laws been as stringent as those of the average state, she would have at least $6,000,000 more in revenue."

And here is one that has the state abuzzing—SALES TAX.

Mr. Brooks says, "The only question before the people of Georgia is whether or not they are willing to adopt a sales tax, since it is only through this source that funds in sufficient amount may be realized to finance the progressive improvements proposed."

If Georgia had had a sales tax, she would have collected in 1947 not less than $30,000,000.

And so, says the professor, a total of $47,000,000 could be raised by levying the additional taxes discussed.

The Farmer Who Fed Us All

(Author Unknown)

I AM THE provider for all mankind. Upon me very human being constantly depends.

A world itself is builded upon my toil, my products, my honesty.

Because of my industry, America, my country, leads the world. Her prosperity is maintained by me; her great commerce is the work of my good hands; her "balance of trade" springs from the furrows of my farm.

My reaper brings food today; my plow holds promise for tomorrow.

In war I am absolute; in peace I am indispensable—my country's surest defense and constant reliance.

I am the very soul of America, the hope of the race, the balance wheel of civilization.

When I prosper men are happy; when I fail all are sufferers.

I live with nature, walk in the green fields under the golden sunlight, out in the great alone where brain and brawn and toil supply mankind's primary needs. And I try to do my humble part to carry out the great plan of God.

Even the birds are my companions; they greet me with a symphony at the new day's dawn and chum with me till the evening prayer is said.

If it were not for me the treasure of the earth would remain securely naked; the granaries would be useless names; man himself would be doomed speedily to extinction or decay.

Through me is produced the energy that maintains the spark of life.

I rise with the early dawn and retire when the "chores" of the world are done.

I am your true friend.

I am the Farmer.

Some Boys To "Tune" Your Piano, Mr. President!

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

Do you know your A's, B's, and C's?

And do you realized that the health of our community hinges to a great degree upon those first three letters of the alphabet?

Every restaurant, drug store, and hamburger stand in Bulloch County—more than 25—displays a large placard on which one of these three letters appears.

If there is a large "A" there, prominently displayed, you may eat your chicken with satisfaction. You can know that your plate is clean, that your coffee cup and water glass are clean. You can know that the refrigerator which protected the butter, the chicken, before it was cooked, was plenty cold. You can know that the kitchen is clean and that the people who work there are clean. You can know that there are no dirt catchers in the floors and walls.

You can rest assured that the place has been given a thorough inspection and graded "A."

If there is a big "B" there, prominently displayed, you may eat your chicken with the same satisfaction as if there were an "A" there. Your coffee cup and water glass will be just as clean, the refrigerator in the kitchen just a cold, the kitchen just as clean, and the people just as careful. The only difference will be in the building. Your "B" building will not be quite as new . . . not quite as modern.

But if there is a big "C" prominently displayed, you may question the condition of the chicken before it was cooked. You may have reason to wonder about the cleanliness of your plate, your coffee cup, and water glass. You will worry about the refrigerator, the sink, the garbage . . . well the place may be absolutely O.K., but you just can't tell.

A personable young man, J. E. Thomas, of the Bulloch County Health department, is the man who grades your eating places. Once a month he visits every place in the county where food is handled and served.

His personal opinion does not enter in to the grade a place is given. It is all specified in an ordinance and code regulating eating and drinking establishments which was adopted by the city of Statesboro and Bulloch county.

Mr. Thomas is from S. Georgia, attended school here at the Teachers College, and went to the University of Georgia. He received his public health training at the United States Public Health Training school at Columbus, Ga.

He finds the owners of eating and drinking places here very cooperative. He says there are very few places in the county where food is handled and served.

Another thing Dr. Jones said was that by combining the atomic bomb with the principle of the V-2 rocket and the guided missile, a nation could set up fortifications on the moon (or some other planet) and dominate this entire earth.

Dr. Jones, head of the department of chemistry at Emory University, had never before occupied a pulpit, but Mother maintains that his added up with one of the strongest sermons she ever heard. He stated that the United States like Pandora, had opened a box and released horrifying possibilities of evil.

But Dr. Jones said there does seem to be hope that our top command may see fit to employ the secret of atomic fission in constructive ways—in the diagnosis and treatment of disease; in development of industry, and in numberless projects that will lead to a new level of civilization.

He even suggests that excursions to the moon are within the realm of possibility for people now living.

Dr. Jones told us those scientists who devoted themselves to the perfection of the atomic device, signed petitions urging our United States to drop one bomb on some sparsely settled area of

KEEP YOUR EYE ON THE CAT

Last Sunday night in Thomaston, Daddy entertained Beth while Mother and I went to the Methodist Church to hear Dr. W. H. Jones, a scientist who helped develop the atomic bomb, and who told us, in a calm and cultured way, of his government service and of problems which confronted those engaged in the unprecedented task of splitting the atom at Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

I wish I had recorded Dr. Jones' speech in short hand, but I was so intrigued by his fortunate and beautiful choice of words that it never occurred to me.

I did manage to scribble the fact that one piece of uranium the size of a golf ball weighs a whole pound and contains energy equal to that of 14,000 tons of coal.

Also I remember that those scientists had two kinds of uranium to contend with—one had an atomic weight of 135, and one 138—and the 135 variety could be split.

They worked out four possible ways of separating those two kinds of uranium and the U. S. War Department had plants set up for the development of each of the four ways. In the end, all four were satisfactory, but time then was important and it seemed impractical to use the trial and error method.

They recently made a tour with which he makes his inspection.

There is nothing officious about Mr. Thomas when he goes into a restaurant or hamburger stand—it's a sort of visit. Everyday pleasantries are passed . . . how're you getting along? . . . how's the missus . . . nice weather . . . and so on. All the while Mr. Thomas is checking.

"We look for old dirt," he told us. He places a thermometer in the refrigerator to check the temperature. He notes the coolness on an inspection sheet. He checks a plate, a cup, the orange juicer, the sink, the garbage, the dish water . . . all the while talking about this and that.

But nothing escapes him. "Let's get these boxes off the floor."

"I like the idea of that aluminum behind the sink."

"Good bye . . . see you soon."

And there you are. The man's "A" or "B" stays prominently displayed, and you and I know here is a clean place in which to eat.

And it's good to know!

It may help explain a healthy community.

"Doll" Foy

Arrives In Milan, Italy

(This week we are in Italy with Doll Foy on her tour of Europe.)

We left Montreux, Switzerland at 9:30 a.m. July 28 by train and stopped at Brig where we went through customs before entering Italy.

We were passed at the border with no trouble. Our baggage was never opened. The customs officials are very nice to American tourists in every country we visited.

Before we reached our first Italian town of Domostia we passed through an underground tunnel which took us over an half-hour. Because of the many mountains we were in and out tunnels the entire trip.

Italy looks very different from Switzerland. The buildings in Italy are old and ancient looking, vineyards along the countryside are filled with grapes.

As our train moved along we saw Lake Maggiore, the largest lake in the country. We could see a lovely home we were told had been built by Prince Barremmes out on a tiny island in the center of the lake.

We arrived in Milan, our first city in Italy. We had rooms at the hotel, Grand Continental.

It was here that we first saw people traveling in boxcars, and were told that that is "third-class transportation." I've never seen so many poor people, as well as well-dressed people, in my life. In a way you have a feeling of uneasiness the minute you step off this train, as a lot of commu-nistic feelings brood here in this big industrial city.

We had our first Italian spaghetti dinner at the hotel that first evening and it was delicious. It is not prepared at all like we Americans do. They serve spaghetti with butter, then pass you a tomato sauce to go on it, then top it with grated cheese. There's nothing spicy about it. Dessert consisted of a beautiful basket of fresh fruits—grapes, pears, apricots, peaches—it was wonderful.

(Next week we go sightseeing in Milan.)

SOCIETY

ANNIVERSARY TRAMMUS SENTIMENTAL APPRECIATION

When Mrs. Jack N. Averitt entertained at a lovely tea at her home, "The Carriage House," on Wednesday afternoon, March 23, she was graciously acknowledged in a charming manner by the guests of a year ago at prenuptial parties. Eighty-five guests were invited to call between the hours of three and six o'clock.

The tea table was overlaid with a Madeira cloth, and had for its central decoration an arrangement of calla lilies and white roses in a silver bowl. Burning white tapers formed a crescent behind the floral arrangement. The floral arrangement was a mass of yellow roses, white stock, yellow lilies, and calla lilies were used elsewhere in the room.

Mrs. R. L. Williams greeted the guests at the door, and Miss Mamie Vesey and Mrs. J. E. Guardia presided at the register. Other assisting were Mesdames Bernard Morris, J. G. Watson, Ronald Nell, D. Thomas, W. H. Ellis, R. J. Kennedy, Sr., Edna Neville and J. B. Averitt, and Mesdames Newton, Edna Neville, Betty Lemore, and Frieda Gernant.

For the occasion the hostess wore a beige afternoon dress with green orchids. The guests were dressed in a variety of styles, and the room was decorated with flowers and greenery.

BRIDGE PARTY FOR BRIDE-ELECT

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Fred Darity, J. G. Altman and Mrs. Billy Tillman were co-hostesses at a lovely bridge party complimenting Miss Inez Stephens, bride-elect, at Mrs. Darity's apartment on South Main street. Spring flowers were used in the decorations and the guests were served pecan pie topped with whipped cream and coffee. The hostess received a teacup in her silver pattern.

For high score Mrs. Tom Smith received two thirties and a game. Two dainty handkerchiefs were won by Mrs. J. B. Averitt. Mrs. T. L. Hagan won a box of soap for high.

Other players were Mrs. Hal Macdon Jr., Mrs. Emerson Brannen, Mrs. Bob Blanchette, Mrs. Eugene Kennedy, Mrs. Lillian Foy, Mrs. Dock Brannen, Mrs. Joe Trappell and Miss Virginia Akins.

STUDENT WIVES CLUB

The Students Wives Club of Georgia Teachers College met at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Marvin S. Pittman.

The home was decorated with colorful arrangements of azaleas. Miss Frieda Gernant, at the college, gave a talk, "Art in the Home," in which she told the group how to plan a home and make it work.

Mrs. R. L. Gladden, Mrs. C. O. Skiles of Clayton, Mrs. C. W. Swinson, Mrs. J. B. Averitt, and Mrs. J. E. Guardia were also present.

Refreshments were served in the dining room where a bowl of mixed fruit and another open fire place gave color and warmth to the atmosphere.

Mrs. Douglas Daniel poured coffee from the silver service while Mrs. Pittman directed the guests around the table where dainty sandwiches were artistically arranged on large trays. Assorted cookies were passed after the guests were re-seated in the living room.

Next month, the wives will be the guests of the Faculty Dances at their regular April meeting.

THE BULLOCK HERALD, THURSDAY, MARCH 24, 1949

The things our young folks do to honeymoon cars are almost as horrible as "Warrior" invasion from the sea. We used to think "Just Married" and a pair of balloons. Were sufficient trimmings as we made our adieu.

MISS YOUNG'S BECOMES BRIDE OF P. FRANKLIN JR.

METTER, Ga., — One of the loveliest ceremonies of the early spring social season took place Friday afternoon, March 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Youngman when their daughter, Miss Anne Adams Youngman, became the bride of P. Franklin Jr., of the Statesboro. The Rev. T. L. Harnsberger, pastor of the Statesboro Presbyterian church, read the marriage rites at four o'clock in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

Miss Nancy Jones, pianist, and Inman Easton, vocalist, presented a program of musical music preceding and during the ceremony. The couple said their vows in the living room before an improvised altar with a backdrop of ivy against which was silhouetted arrangements of white gladioli and white snapdragons interspersed with candelabra. High in holding white lighted tapers. High lighting the altar, arranged before the fireplace, were gladioli and candelabra on the mantel reflected in a large mirror.

Little Miss Joy Huckabee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huckabee, of Reidsville, and the bride's cousin, and Mrs. Geo. Lane, was matron of honor. They were given away in powder blue tulle in bouffant style. They carried bouquets of pink snapdragons and yellow roses, tied with pink satin ribbons and wore in their hair bouquets of powder blue maline. Emory Allen served as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiantly beautiful in her wedding gown of exquisite duchess satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, long fitted sleeves and a full skirt that extended into a court train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid with yellow throat and showered with stephanotis and ribbons.

The bride's parents entertained at a reception immediately following the ceremony. The bride's car, covered with an Italian cloth of cutwork and lace, was centered with the tiered wedding cake encircled with a white satin ribbon ruffle and florets of gladioli. Silver candelabra, burning (4-13-21p)

Following the rehearsal for the Youngman-Franklin nuptials Thursday evening in Metter, the entire wedding party and out-of-town guests were entertained at a buffet supper.

WHITE CANDLES, FLANKED THE CENTERPIECE, and at each end of the table was a silver coffee service at which Mrs. Roy Wadewick, of Marietta, Fla., and Mrs. Lehan Franklin, of Statesboro, presided.

On the buffet were white gladioli, white snapdragon and silver candelabra. Throughout the rooms were arrangements of the white gladioli and snapdragons carrying out the white and green note as did the individual mistle, the individual cakes and the ices molded in the form of Easter lilies.

Mrs. Youngman chose for her daughter's wedding an ash of roses sheer, trimmed in matching lace, accented by a purple orchid corsage.

Mrs. P. G. Franklin, mother of the bridegroom, wore French blue crepe with a purple orchid corsage.

Miss Barbara Franklin, sister of the bridegroom, kept the bride's look. A coterie of young girls and matrons assisting in serving were Mrs. Kennedy Dekle, Mrs. Harold Hall, Miss Jean Tillman, Miss Mavis Baggett, and Mrs. Jeff Newberry, of Valdosta.

Mr. Franklin and his bride left for a wedding trip to Miami and other Florida points, the latter traveling in a toast garbade suit with green accessories and a white orchid worn on the lapel of her coat. They will make their home in Statesboro.

Among out-of-town guests were Misses Ethel and Annie Mae Adams, of Moultrie; Mrs. W. E. Adams, of Thomas; Mrs. J. W. Adams, of Macon; Dr. and Mrs. Roy Wadewick, of Marietta; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Huckabee, of Reidsville; Dr. and Mrs. Paul G. Franklin, Miss Barbara Franklin, of Lumberton, N. POST OFFICE

ly for the receipt and dispatch of all mails for Statesboro.

It has been ten years since Statesboro has received mail by a railroad. In that time receipts have increased from $19,642.72 in 1935 to $47,188.08 in 1948.

Of interest to stamp collectors, only special first-trip covers will be handled on the inaugural trip, March 29. Distinctive cachets and postmarking stamps will be furnished by the post office department for use on these first day mailings. First day covers should be prepared immediately by addressing the envelope and handing to the window clerks at the post office here, with a request that they be handled on the first trip.

Local Guard To Observe Army Day Here April 6
Lieutenant Colonel Henry J. Ellis, commanding officer of the 101st AAA Gun Battalion of the National Guard, announced this week that a parade has been planned for the observance of Army Day here on Wednesday, April 6.

Taking part in the observance will be the 101 AAA Gun Battalion, the Headquarters group, the Headquarters Battery, and Battery "A" of the National Guard, located in Statesboro.

According to Colonel Ellis, equipment including radar guns, and personal equipment will be displayed on the court house square for inspection by the public. Personnel will be stationed along the parade route to answer questions.

Between 3 and 5 p.m. the Air National Guard of Savannah will fly over Statesboro and air-ground communications will be established.

The State referendum of April 5 puts the voters of Bulloch county square on trial, according to President H. L. Wingate of the O. C. Advertiser, Editor of the Georgia Vocational Association. The following is an analysis of the advantages to this county if the proposal is approved at the polls next week.

For the schools, it will bring approximately $206,608 to Bulloch in additional state money. Rural roads will get approximately $80,103.91 in addition to the county's allocated share of the four million dollars for post road construction. Payments to old-age and other pensioners will be increased by $25,600.

Provision also is made to replace many obsolete school buses, and the road program will prevent country roads from being closed many days in the year because of impassable conditions, which necessitate children making up lost time by stretching the school term into the late spring and summer when they are most needed at home.

It will make available $250,000 to repair and restore run down school houses, eliminating dangerous firetraps.

Doctors' Day Observed At Country Club
The wives of the doctors of Bulloch-Candler-Evans Medical society entertained their husbands Sunday at a luncheon at the Forest Heights Country Club in observance of annual Doctor's Day which was yesterday.

Each doctor upon arrival was given a red carnation boutonniere.

Covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. Lem Nevils, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Simmons, Dr. and Mrs. Louis Kennedy, Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Hames, Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Griffin, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace Daniel, Dr. F. B.
